Who Needs Hot Shot's Secret?

Diesel Truck Owners and Drivers who care about the future of their vehicles!

To increase the efficiency in modern diesel truck engines, manufacturers have increased the pressure at the tip of the injector. This increase in pressure provides for a better, more efficient burn with added power, but the higher pressure and temperature have a burning effect on the engine oil. A layer of oxidized oil and additives will form, first slowing down the injector and eventually stopping it altogether.

Injector malfunctions can lead to:

- Slow start up
- Rough idling
- Hesitation
- Lack of power
- COSTLY REPAIRS!

How it Works
